

FIGHTING THE COMPROMISE SOLDIER'S BONUS BILL

Washington, March 8.—While the fight against the compromise soldier's bonus bill continued today unabated, house members on both sides of the question predicted privately that the measure would be passed by the house. Although a two-thirds vote would be required to put the bill through under such a procedure, republican leaders were discussing the question of calling up the measure under a suspension of the rules. This would preclude the possibility of amendment, and ordinarily would limit the debate to twenty minutes on each side.

The majority membership will be sounded out on this proposition, but a decision probably will be withheld until after the return here late in the week of Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee, who will have charge of the bill on the floor.

The next rules suspension today in the house will be Monday, March 20. Leaders said the army appropriation bill would be taken up next Tuesday ahead of the bonus bill and even if the latter measure were not called up under a suspension of the rules it probably would not be considered before the week beginning March 20.

There was some discussion during the day as to President Harding's attitude with regard to the compromise bill. Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, the majority leader, said he did not think the statement made at the White House yesterday that Mr. Harding occupied the same position that he did when he suggested a sales tax, or postponement of the legislation, was to be taken to mean that the executive was prepared to veto the measure.

Representative Hawley, of Oregon, a republican member of the ways and means committee, said the president had suggested a ninety days' delay in enactment of the legislation as an alternative for the sales tax and that in the judgment of the committee this suggestion had been met by making October 1, 1922, the effective date of the bill.

POLITICS CAUSES REVERSAL IN FOREIGN EXCHANGE

New York, March 8.—Fairly large offerings of commercial bills against exports and the unsettled political situation in England, Italy and Spain caused a nervous reversal in the foreign exchange markets today.

Early quotations on London were two cents under yesterday's final prices and almost ten cents under the high rates of February.

Italian exchange broke 15 points, or a total of almost 50 points from its recent maximum, and Paris bills were ten points under yesterday's, with a 12 point decline in futures, or about a half.

French 1/2% bonds against nearly all "some remittance later in the day, after the market had been half in loss, with similar reverses in continental quotations.

Central European quotations were heavy. The rate on Czechoslovakia broke to a new low of 100,000,000, and the rate on the mark to that government by British bankers.

DAB ROOMS ARE REPLACED BY PRIVATE HOSPITALS

Boston, March 8.—The passing of the rooms and social clubs that had long been the center of the city's life, the opening of private hospitals which serve the same purpose, and the general trend of the times, are all factors in the disappearance of the "dab" rooms today.

George F. Merrill, former representative, speaking in support of a bill for the regulation and supervision of all private hospitals, declared that many new private hospitals to take the place of the "dab" rooms and social clubs had already opened, and that proprietors of these places were being forced to close them because of the expense of maintaining them. He said that the government had converted some of these "dab" rooms into "private hospitals."
